A word from our pastors

Where is your head?

During Lent, I deleted all social media apps from my phone. I told myself that since people sometimes use Facebook to communicate important things with me – even about church – it was OK for me to check Facebook on my computer from time to time. But I completely avoided other social media until Easter, when I reinstalled all those apps and reverted to what some people call “the morning check-in.” That’s where I pick up my phone first thing in the morning and start browsing as I walk to the door to let my dog out. This sounds like a terrible habit, and it is, at least for me.

It was easy for me to notice when I rejoined Twitter after a six-week absence, that it was making me irritable. I was getting agitated about things I didn’t even need to know. For instance, most of the presidential candidates I’m reading about on Twitter now, won’t even be in the picture a year from now. Why should I waste emotional energy being upset at those who criticize my favorites now?

The other thing I like to do first thing in the morning is watch the news. Network news at 7 a.m. has been part of my routine for as long as I can remember. I resented having to turn off the Today Show to go wait for the school bus during coverage of Hurricane Andrew in 1992. But recently I’ve experimented with breaking that pattern, too. Instead of turning on the news, I’ve been turning on a lamp, sitting down with my coffee and opening a book. It’s a much different way to start the day, because I’m not allowing a ratings-driven broadcast to decide where the first focus of my attention and emotional energy is going to be.

All of this reminds me of something Paul wrote in Philippians 4: “Finally, brothers and sisters, whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable—if anything is excellent or praiseworthy—think about such things.” This is the same letter where Paul encourages us to have the mind of Christ, and thank goodness he gives us some direction on how to reach that lofty goal.

We each have choices about what we devote our attention to and how much mental space we give to things that bring us stress or tempt us to despair. Those adjectives Paul lists highlight a lot of possibilities. To focus more on those things, you might also read a book, or, you might take a walk, sip a cup of tea, listen to music, call a loved one, open the windows and let the breeze blow through your house, re-watch a favorite movie, play with your dog, hold a baby, cook a meal for friends or simply sit in silence.

Whatever you choose to do, let it remind you of this: the bad news, the tumult, the problems we see around us are not the ultimate truth about this world. Jesus Christ is risen from the dead, and that changes everything. Good news has overwhelmed the bad forever. Think about that.

Serving our Community

Food Pantry Ministry The Food Pantry Ministry would like to thank all who donate food to our ministries. As more families are food challenged in our community, our donations are even more important to help support our food pantries and Second Helpings. Food donations in May will be given to Emmaus Lutheran Church in Fountain Square. They serve the families in the area southeast of Fountain Square. Pasta and long grain rice continue to be donated to Second Helpings. Second Helpings prepares meals at their center and sends them all across Indianapolis. Community centers, churches, homeless shelters, after school programs and our own Friday Community Meals ministry benefit from their work. Please place donated items on the white shelves outside Resurrection Hall. Weekly suggestions are:

- May 5: canned meats and soup
- May 12: breakfast cereal and juice
- May 19: pasta sauces and boxed meals
- May 26: canned vegetables and fruits
- Every Week: pasta and long grain rice

Another ongoing opportunity to help food pantries within our community is Meijer's Simply Give program - look for it at the check-out lanes while shopping!

Stephen Ministry

Could you be on the lookout? "Walking in grace with those who are hurting." That is the mission statement for Stephen Ministry here at RLC. For those who have been served by a Stephen Minister, you know how this mission statement is put into action. But some of you may not know about this ministry or realize that it exists to help people who are going through a difficult time in their lives. Stephen Ministers offer Christian care by listening to those who are working through personal situations, providing support, always showing up and maintaining strict confidentiality. All Stephen Ministers 1) have gone through 50 hours of training, 2) meet with each other twice a month to give support and encouragement to one another and 3) regularly participate in continuing education. Stephen Ministers are not trained to be counselors or to handle situations which require professionals. But they are of tremendous help in many other situations such as death and dying, loss of job, issues with children, divorce, pregnancy, retirement, aging and so many other unique times when life becomes overwhelming.

We currently have about 20 active Stephen Ministers at RLC. We know there are people here who could benefit from having a Stephen Minister. But people often hesitate to ask for help for themselves. This is where we need your help. The Stephen Leaders, Ministers and pastors do not always know your personal situations. But you may be aware of something happening with your friends and family. We need for you to become our "lookouts". If you are aware of someone who could use a listening ear, a shoulder to cry on or someone to pray with, you can help that person get a Stephen Minister.

It is very important that you follow a particular procedure when you think someone would benefit from a Stephen Minister. There are two steps which should be followed in every case. First, you should talk to the person about the ministry and ask if it would be OK to give their name to a pastor or leader. If the person agrees, you can refer the person to a ministry leader or one of the pastors. Alternatively, the person may choose to do this themselves. Even mentioning a personal situation without permission breaches confidentiality, and we strive to always respect privacy.

Thank you for your help and God bless you as you work to be the body of Jesus in the lives of those around you.

The Stephen Ministry Team

Pr Ryan, Lynnette Browder, Scott Deitch, Susie Johnson, Bev Ledwon, Helen Welter, Tom Welch

Bread for the World

Resurrection's 2019 Offering of Letters is Sunday, May 5

Bread for the World's Offering of Letters aims to realize a world in which all of God's children are fed. We strive to create political will by writing our policy makers and urging them to create pathways out of hunger and poverty. This year's focus is "Better Nutrition, Better Tomorrow" and we write to advocate for an end to global childhood malnutrition.

Join us for these special activities in May:

- Sunday, May 5: We welcome David Miner as guest delivering the sermon at 8:15 and 10:45 a.m. worship. David is projects chair and board member of the Indy Hunger Network. He formerly served as board chair of Bread for the World and Bread for the World Institute. He is formerly volunteer executive director of the Interfaith Hunger Initiative. He retired from a senior executive role for Elanco animal health after 28 years with Eli Lilly. He has been a grassroots activist for 37 years and leads local Bread activities in Indiana.
- Sunday, May 5: We write to our legislators! Gather in the narthex to make a world of difference by writing a letter. All necessary materials will be provided. This is RLC's sixth year writing and last year we wrote 267 letters. Added to over 4,000 additional letters (via Indiana's ecumenical Offering of Letters), our letters were delivered to our elected officials with Indiana senators receiving over 1,000 letters apiece! Join our collective voice in urging Congress to pass legislation to accelerate progress on global nutrition.
- One step further: This year we are conducting a contest to increase our advocacy efforts! As part of Bread for the World's Offering of Letters on Sunday, May 5, we will have packets with information to equip you to share your passion with others. Invite friends, relatives and coworkers to write letters, then bring the letters back to RLC on Sunday, May 12 to be blessed. As an added incentive, we will provide you with a fresh loaf of bread if you collect letters from at least 3 people outside of the congregation.
- Sunday, May 12: We bless all of the letters written and collected by our congregation and add them to the letters written by others across Indiana. We ask God to bless these letters so that our words may touch the hearts and minds of members of Congress and embolden our elected officials to increase our nation's commitment and investment in global nutrition programs.

Thank You's

Agape Feast: The Fellowship Team and Agape Feast Team wish to thank the many Resurrection people who contributed to yet another beautiful Agape Feast this year. Without your help donating food, working tirelessly to set-up and clean-up, this event would not be possible. It is such a special event for our first communicants, their families and guests.

Random Acts of Flowers: I wanted to send a note of thanks for your support of Random Acts of Flowers. My son has been a patient at St. Vincent Seton Speciality Hospital for over three months. When the beautiful flowers are delivered by sweet RAF volunteers, it brightens my day (and several days to follow). I look forward to the day that my son is well and I can volunteer for Random Acts of Flowers. Thank you so much. Happy Easter, Sarah Seligman

Soup: Thanks for the prayers, calls, cards and inquiries after my recent surgery. I really appreciated receiving some of the soups from the Lenten dinners as well as having them delivered! Much thanks, Kim Toney

Easter Baskets: Dear Church, You are overwhelmingly extravagant! I'm flabbergasted by the gifts (Easter Baskets) you gave all of us. Thank God for you and God bless you! – Mary Frances

RLC Communications

RLC Communication Deadlines We have a lot of different methods of communicating information to our congregation (ex: bulletin inserts, weekly email, monthly Bell Ringer, website, Facebook, etc.). Did you know each of these communication channels has a deadline? Download a one-page printable PDF with all of the deadlines at rlcindy.org/communications-toolbox.

RLC Communications Process & Tools - Effective Wed, May 15 Learn about this new process and what is changing: tinyurl.com/RLC-Communications. As part of Resurrection's strategy for leveraging digital tools and spaces in living out our Holy Purpose, RLC has launched a communications process with tools for creating and communicating messages, reserving spaces at RLC and requesting people to serve. This communications process and related tools are a crucial step in bringing clarity and consistency to how we communicate messages here at Resurrection. The process has four parts:

1. Single point of contact, our Parish Administrator, Tabatha Sutton
2. New Communications Toolbox on website:
rlcindy.org/communications-toolbox
3. Established deadlines for submissions
4. Guided, self-service Google Forms for requesting support

As we grow into this process together, there will be many opportunities for grace and patience. Our hope is that this process and tools will allow our ministry teams to focus on creating and sharing messages - instead of scrambling to figure out how to make it happen. Questions? Contact Mark Tisdale, Digital Strategy Lead, at digital@rlcindy.org.
